Media Service Nepal

Introduction

Media Services Nepal is a communication organization that was formally established in 1998 and developed as a private limited from 2009. MSN's goal is to cater to the need of development communication in the country. Development projects can't be translated into practice without effective communication. MSN works to bridge this gap through its expertise that is skilled to work in all genres of communication. From producing award-winning documentaries to conducting trainings to enhance communicators at different levels, MSN has successfully established itself as a responsible organization in the sphere of development communication.

Our Area of Expertise

- Audio-visual documentation and production
MSN launched its mission with audio-visual production. It started A-V production in 1998. MSN has been producing videos on various themes for different organizations. It has produced more than 160 documentaries so far. MSN also works in audio production. Audio programmes and public service announcements are prepared for different organizations and broadcasted from different radio stations across the country.

- Media campaign on social issues
MSN has worked both as a media partner and independently in various projects that highlighted social issues such as women's and minority rights, education and poverty along with health and sanitation, disaster risk reduction and other issues in Nepal.
- Pre-press and Printing Work
MSN in the print sector focuses on the development of IEC materials. We provide different work services like poster and leaflet preparation, hoarding boards, service on report writing, event study writing, making brochures.
- Writershop Training
The Writershop is a writing workshop package that provides trainings to development practitioners, social immobilizers, development activists. The training focuses on various aspects of development writing such as case study preparation and best practice documentation.
- Digital Media Training
This package training will introduce participants to audio/visual presentations, photography, moviemaking techniques and empower them to improvise their communication expertise in the development sector.
